Appendix D

Accrediting Agencies and Associations Recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education

The Secretary of Education is required by statute to publish a list of nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations which the Secretary determines to be reliable authorities as to the quality of training offered by educational institutions and programs. The National Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility assists the Secretary in determining which accrediting bodies should be listed. Accrediting bodies that achieve recognition are reviewed at least every 4 years thereafter.

The commissions of the regional associations and the national institutional and specialized accrediting agencies which are recognized by the Secretary have no legal control over educational institutions or programs. They promulgate standards of quality or criteria of institutional excellence and approve or admit to membership those institutions that meet the standards or criteria.

I. Regional Institutional Accrediting Associations

The regional associations recognized by the Secretary of Education appear in the following listing. Regional accreditation applies to the entire institution and indicates that each of its parts is contributing to the achievement of an institution's objectives, although not necessarily all on the same level of quality.

All regional accreditations listed in the Directory are self-reported by the institution and have not been verified by NCES, so the prospective student should verify accreditations of importance to him or her in the selection of a school by contacting the accrediting agencies. Appendix E provides the addresses and telephone numbers of the accrediting agencies for this purpose.

II. National Institutional and Specialized Accrediting Agencies

The national institutional and specialized accrediting agencies recognized by the Secretary of Education, and their scope of recognition, appear in the following listing. Institutional accreditation normally applies to an entire institution, indicating that each of its parts is contributing to the achievement of an institution's objectives, although not necessarily all on the same level of quality. Some national accrediting agencies perform institutional accreditation.

Specialized accreditation normally applies to evaluation of programs, departments, or schools which usually are parts of a total collegiate or other postsecondary institution. The unit accredited may be as large as a college or school within a university or as small as a curriculum within a discipline. Most of the specialized accrediting agencies review units within a postsecondary institution which is accredited by one of the regional accrediting commissions. However, certain of the specialized accrediting agencies do accredit professional schools and other specialized or vocational or other postsecondary institutions which are free-standing in their operations. Thus, a "specialized" or "programmatic" accrediting agency may also function in the capacity of an "institutional" accrediting agency. In addition, a number of specialized accrediting agencies accredit educational programs within non-educational settings, such as hospitals.

All national institutional and specialized accreditations listed in the Directory are self-reported by the institution and have not been verified by NCES. The prospective student should verify accreditations of importance to him or her in the selection of a school by contacting the accrediting agencies. Appendix E provides the addresses and telephone numbers of the accrediting agencies for this purpose.

Carnegie Foundation Classification Codes

The 1994 classification system created by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching is included in the Directory to help users of this information further delineate institutions by type. This classification, which dates back to 1970, currently includes approximately 3,600 colleges and universities in the United States that are degree-granting and accredited by an agency recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education. The 10 categories that make up the new classification scheme are based largely on academic mission and are not intended to measure quality. Institutions are classified according to their highest level of offering, the number of degrees conferred by discipline, and the amount of federal support for research received by the institution. Some categories also rely on the selectivity of the institution's admissions.

Information provided by the Carnegie Foundation was matched against the IPEDS "Institutional Characteristics" file and the codes are indicated in the institutional listings where matches were certain. It is important for users to note that IPEDS includes separate listings for all branches of an institution, whereas, in some instances, Carnegie lists only one campus (which encompasses the main campus and all branches). Each of the categories, and the coding scheme used in this Directory, are explained below:

RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES I (RES I)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually $40 million or more in federal support.

RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES II (RES II)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually between $15.5 million and $40 million in federal support.

DOCTORAL UNIVERSITIES I (DOC I)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the doctorate. They award at least 40 doctoral degrees annually in five or more disciplines.

DOCTORAL UNIVERSITIES II (DOC II)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the doctorate. They award annually at least 10 doctoral degrees (in three or more disciplines), or 20 or more doctoral degrees in one or more disciplines.

MASTER'S (COMPREHENSIVE) UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES I (MAST I)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 40 or more master's degrees annually in three or more disciplines.

MASTER'S (COMPREHENSIVE) UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES II (MAST II)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 20 or more master's degrees annually in one or more disciplines.

BACCALAUREATE (LIBERAL ARTS) COLLEGES I (BACC I)

These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degree programs. They award 40 percent or more of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields and are restrictive in admissions.

BACCALAUREATE COLLEGES II (BACC II)

These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degree programs. They award less than 40 percent of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields or are less restrictive in admissions.

ASSOCIATE OF ARTS COLLEGES (AA)

These institutions offer associate of arts certificate or degree programs and, with few exceptions, offer no baccalaureate degrees.

SPECIALIZED INSTITUTIONS

These institutions offer degrees ranging from the baccalaureate to the doctorate. At least 50 percent of the degrees awarded by these institutions are in a single discipline.

- (THEO) Theological seminaries, Bible colleges and other institutions offering degrees in religion: This category includes institutions at which the primary purpose is to offer religious instruction or train members of the clergy.
- (MED) Medical schools and medical centers: These institutions award most of their professional degrees in medicine. In some instances, their programs include other health professional schools, such as dentistry, pharmacy, or nursing.
- (HEALTH) Other separate health profession schools: Institutions in this category award most of their degrees in such fields as chiropractic, nursing, pharmacy, or podiatry.
- (ENG) Schools of engineering and technology: The institutions in this category award at least a bachelor's degree in programs limited almost exclusively to technical fields of study.
- (BUS) Schools of business and management: The schools in this category award most of their bachelor's or graduate degrees in business or business-related programs.
- (FINE ARTS) Schools of art, music, and design: Institutions in this category award most of their bachelor's or graduate degrees in art, music, design, architecture, or some combination of such fields.
- (LAW) Schools of law: The schools in this category award most of their degrees in law. The list includes only institutions that are separate entities or campuses.
- (TEACH) Teachers colleges: Institutions in this category award most of their bachelor's or graduate degrees in education or education-related fields.
- (OTHER) Other specialized institutions: Institutions in this category include graduate centers, maritime academies, military institutes, and institutions that do not fit any other classification category.
- (TRIBAL) Tribal colleges: These colleges are, with few exceptions, tribally controlled and located on reservations. They are all members of the American Indian Higher Education Consortium.

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is the primary federal entity for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data related to education in the United States and other nations. It fulfills a congressional mandate to collect, collate, analyze, and report full and complete statistics on the condition of education in the United States; conduct and publish reports and specialized analyses of the meaning and significance of such statistics; assist state and local education agencies in improving their statistical systems; and review and report on education activities in foreign countries.

NCES activities are designed to address high priority education data needs; provide consistent, reliable, complete, and accurate indicators of education status and trends; and report timely, useful, and high quality data to the U.S. Department of Education, the Congress, the states, other education policymakers, practitioners, data users, and the general public.

We strive to make our products available in a variety of formats and in language that is appropriate to a variety of audiences. You, as our customer, are the best judge of our success in communicating information effectively. If you have any comments or suggestions about this or any other NCES product or report, we would like to hear from you. Please direct your comments to:

Foreword

The 1995 Directory of Postsecondary Institutions is a comprehensive listing of the 10,403 postsecondary institutions known to be in operation in the United States, the District of Columbia, and the outlying areas at the close of academic year 1994-95. The Directory is published to make this national database available to the education community, the general public, and other interested users.

Basic information is provided on each institution, including its name, address, telephone number, control or affiliation, highest level of award, general types of programs, calendar system, Carnegie classification, and nationally recognized accreditations. Also listed are the institution's 1993 fall enrollment and the typical charges for tuition and required fees and room and board for academic year 1994-95.

The Directory is printed in two volumes due to the large number of institutions and the amount of information presented for each institution. Volume 1 includes institutions at the 4-year and 2-year levels, while less-than-2-year institutions are included in Volume 2.

The information was collected through the 1994-95 "Institutional Characteristics" survey, the 1993 "Fall Enrollment" survey, and the 1993 "Consolidated" survey, conducted annually by the National Center for Education Statistics as part of the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). A full explanation of the data can be found in the introduction to the Directory.

Acknowledgments

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) and the authors of this Directory sincerely appreciate the critical review of the Directory by Dr. Charles Andersen formerly with the American Council on Education, Mr. John Lee of JBL Associates, and the following staff with the Department of Education's Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI): Kristin Perry, Charlene Hoffman, and John Sietsma.

Creation of the final database used to generate the institutional listings in the Directory was accomplished through an interagency agreement with the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census. The staff of the Governments Division, especially Janice Plotczyk and Kaleen Vaden, as well as those in Jeffersonville, Indiana, and a network of state coordinators shared primary responsibility for data collection and processing, nonresponse followup, and resolution of data inconsistencies. While their names are too numerous to mention here, their time, effort, and commitment toward making this an accurate database are gratefully acknowledged.

The following individuals in the NCES Surveys and Cooperative Systems Group contributed significantly to the Directory and are offered sincere thanks: Geneva Davis (retired) for her unending support and diligence in the maintenance of the IPEDS universe (i.e., the identification of school openings and closings, and name and address changes to existing schools); Frank Morgan for creating the tables in this publication; Samuel Barbett for his guidance and support; and Austin Lin who provided extensive technical support in computer programming and analysis.

Last, but not least, sincere gratitude is expressed to all the individuals who completed the survey forms and thus provided the data that made this report possible.

Introduction

The 1995 Directory of Postsecondary Institutions lists the known universe of 10,403 postsecondary institutions in operation in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the outlying areas at the close of academic year 1994-95. The make-up of the universe changes somewhat from year to year, mostly due to institutions closing their doors, or the opening of new schools.

This publication is printed in two volumes due to the large number of institutions and the amount of information provided for each institution. However, each volume contains a comprehensive set of tables covering the full universe of postsecondary institutions and the appendixes. Institutions are listed alphabetically by state in each volume; schools in the outlying areas, such as Puerto Rico, follow the state listings.

Volume 1 of the Directory lists postsecondary institutions at the 4-year and 2-year levels--colleges and universities, business and professional schools, community and junior colleges and other schools with programs of at least 2-years duration. Included are:

- 2,819 4-year institutions (i.e., offering a bachelor's degree or higher award) and
- 2,657 2-but-less-than-4-year schools (offering a postsecondary award normally requiring at least 2 but less than 4 academic years of study).

Volume 2 of the Directory lists postsecondary institutions at the less-than-2-year level, consisting mostly of vocational/technical and other occupationally-oriented schools. Included are:

- 4,927 less-than-2-year institutions (offering a postsecondary award normally requiring less than 2 academic years of study).

At the end of each volume is an alphabetical index of institutions included in the volume and a set of appendixes. Appendixes A, B, and C list changes in the universe of accredited institutions of higher education (see this term in next section) for academic years 1992-93 through 1994-95.

Appendix D provides a key to the accreditation(s) reported by the institutions, while Appendix E provides the full names and addresses for the accrediting agencies and associations recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education. Finally, Appendix F provides a key to the Carnegie Classification system which was revised in 1994 and an explanation of the categories as used in the institutional listings.

The Directory provides the following information for each institution: the school's name, address, telephone number, control or affiliation, highest level of award, general types of programs offered, calendar system, Carnegie classification, and nationally recognized accreditations. Total enrollment for the fall of 1993 is listed, along with the typical charges for tuition and required fees and room and board for academic year 1994-95. The institution's unit identification code (UNITID) is also provided and, if it is accredited as an institution of higher education, its Federal Interagency Committee on Education (FICE) code is listed.

The Directory was prepared by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), U.S. Department of Education. The information was gathered on the 1994-95 "Institutional Characteristics" survey, the 1993 "Fall Enrollment" survey, and the 1993 "Consolidated" survey, which are part of the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) administered by NCES.

The IPEDS surveys collect basic institutional and student data from the known universe of postsecondary institutions in the United States and its outlying areas. The surveys are conducted in compliance with the Center's mission "to collect, analyze, and disseminate statistics and other information related to education in the United States...." (P.L. 103-382, National Education Statistics Act of 1994, Sec. 404(a)).

Terms Used in the Directory

Academic Year

The tuition and room and board data in the Directory are for the 1994-95 academic year. An academic year is defined as the period of time generally extending from September to June, and usually equated to two semesters or trimesters, three quarters, or the period covered by a 4-1-4 plan.

Accreditation

The accrediting agencies and associations listed in the Directory are recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education, as reliable authorities regarding the quality of training offered by educational institutions and programs. An explanation of the types of educational accreditation and a key to the accreditation acronyms used in the institutional listings are provided in Appendix D. Since all accreditations were self-reported by the institution and were not verified by NCES, prospective students should contact the accrediting agency(ies) to verify accreditations of importance to them in the selection of a school. Appendix E lists the addresses and telephone numbers of the accrediting bodies.

Board

The typical board charge to a full-time student at the institution for the full 1994-95 academic year is listed. Following the board charge is the number of meals per week included in the board charge or (V) if the number of meals varies by meal plan. Some institutions reported a combined room and board charge; for these schools, the combined charge is listed under "Room;" "Board" is coded as "$$".

Branches of Institutions

Sites other than the main campus of an institution are considered branches and are listed separately if they meet all of the following criteria:

1. The campus or site is not temporary;
2. The site is located in a community beyond a reasonable commuting distance from its parent institution; and
3. An organized program of study is offered at the site, not just courses.

Calendar System

The institution's predominant calendar system is provided as either semester, quarter, trimester, 4-1-4, differs by program, continuous, or other.

Carnegie Classification

The Carnegie Classification listed in the Directory is based on the 1994 edition, published by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which groups accredited institutions into 11 categories. Appendix F provides a key to these codes and an explanation of the coding system. According to the Carnegie Foundation, these codes are based largely on the institution's academic mission and the level of complexity of its programs; it does not address quality or creativity.

Control

Institutions are classified by control based on the following IPEDS criteria:

- Public. An educational institution whose programs and activities are operated by publicly elected or appointed school officials and which is supported primarily by public funds.
- Private. An educational institution controlled by a private individual(s) or by a nongovernmental agency, usually supported primarily by other than public funds, and operated by other than publicly elected or appointed officials. Private institutions fall into one of two major categories:
 - Nonprofit. A private institution in which the individual(s) or agency in control receives no compensation other than wages, rent, or other expenses for the assumption of risk. In the Directory, nonprofit institutions are listed as Independent Nonprofit (i.e., having no religious affiliation) or as religiously affiliated: Catholic, Jewish, Protestant (specified), or Other Religious (specified).
 - For-profit. A private institution in which the individual(s) or agency in control receives compensation other than wages, rent, or other expenses for the assumption of risk.

Enrollment

Total enrollment in the fall of 1993 is listed for each institution. The enrollment figure is followed by the percent of total students who are female. Enrollment for institutions eligible for federal student financial aid is from the "Fall Enrollment" survey or the "Consolidated" survey; enrollment was imputed if the institution did not report the data. (Enrollment is identified as (R) if reported or (I) if imputed.) Enrollment for other institutions is from the "Institutional Characteristics" survey and reflects reported data only. An asterisk (*) indicates the institution did not report enrollment and the data were not imputed.

The enrollment figure includes full-time and part-time students at the undergraduate, graduate, and first-professional levels who are enrolled in courses creditable toward a degree, diploma, certificate, or other formal award; and students enrolled in courses that are part of a vocational or occupational program. Excluded are students enrolled exclusively in courses not creditable toward a formal award or the completion of a vocational program; students taking only continuing education units (CEU's); students exclusively auditing courses; students studying abroad; and students enrolled at a branch campus or extension center of an institution in a foreign country.

FICE

A 6-digit FICE identification code is assigned in this Directory to postsecondary schools that qualify as institutions of higher education, that is, they are accredited at the college level by an agency or association recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education, and they are legally authorized to offer at least a 1-year program of study creditable toward a degree. This identifier was originally created by the Federal Interagency Committee on Education (FICE). These are the same types of institutions that were formerly included in the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) system.

For ease of identification in the Directory, an institution of higher education has an (H) preceding its name. The institution's FICE code is also listed because it is an important identifier of these schools to many users of postsecondary data; on the survey data file, the FICE code is the variable used to subset accredited institutions of higher education from the rest of the postsecondary universe.

In IPEDS, institutions and their branches are listed as separate schools as long as each entity offers complete programs of study. Under HEGIS, only separately accredited branches of an institution were surveyed as separate entities. Therefore, a school may have several entries in IPEDS where only one existed in HEGIS. In order to identify and link the institutions or branches in IPEDS that reported as one school in HEGIS, NCES has developed "dummy" FICE codes, that is, FICE codes with a "9" in the first position. For example, ABC College was considered as one school in HEGIS, with all campuses reporting together under FICE code 005555. IPEDS considers it as three separate schools, each with a unique UNITID code; however, the schools can be linked by their FICE codes which are identical except in the first position.

		UNITID
Institution name	FICE
123421 ABC College-Main Campus	005555
123530 ABC College-West Campus	905555
123558 ABC College-East Campus	905555

In summary, the assignment of "dummy" FICE codes permits analysts to reaggregate main and branch campus data to match the information reported in the former HEGIS system.

Full-Time Student

The tuition and room and board data in the Directory are for students attending the institution on a full-time basis. At the undergraduate level, a full-time student is one who is enrolled for 12 or more semester credits, or 12 or more quarter credits, or 24 or more contact hours a week each term. At the graduate level, a full-time student is one who is enrolled for 9 or more semester credits, or 9 or more quarter credits, or students involved in thesis or dissertation preparation who are considered full-time by the institution.

Higher Education Institution

An institution of higher education is a postsecondary institution that is accredited at the college level by an agency or association recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education, and legally authorized to offer at least a 1-year program of study creditable toward a degree. Accredited institutions of higher education are identified by an (H) preceding the name of the school and by the presence of their FICE code.

The Division of Eligibility and Certification in the Office of Postsecondary Education determines which postsecondary schools are eligible for classification as institutions of higher education. These institutions formerly comprised the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) universe which was replaced by IPEDS in 1986. As of May 15, 1995, there were 3,761 higher education institutions and branches of such institutions in the United States and its outlying areas. Appendixes A, B, and C list changes to the universe of higher education institutions since the last Directory was published.

Highest Offering

The term "Highest Offering" in the institutional listings refers to the highest level of award granted by the institution. Highest offering is based on award levels 1 through 9 (listed below), according to the following logic:

- Institutions that grant ONLY first-professional awards (levels 10 and 11) will show first-professional degree or first-professional certificate as the school's highest offering. Many theological, medical, and law schools offer only first-professional awards. First-professional certificate will be listed if awards are offered at both levels.
- Otherwise, highest offering is based on award levels 1 through 9, in ascendant order. For example, if an institution offers a bachelor's degree and a doctor's degree, highest offering will show doctor's degree.
- If the institution grants awards at any of levels 1 through 9 and also grants a first-professional award, highest offering will show as the highest of levels 1 through 9 offered at the institution, and "First-Professional Offering Also" will be listed on the next line. For example, if an institution offers a bachelor's degree and a first-professional degree, highest offering will show bachelor's degree, and the line below will read: First-Professional Offering Also.

1. Postsecondary Award, Certificate, or Diploma (less than 1 academic year). An award that requires completion of an organized program of study at the postsecondary level in less than 1 academic year (2 semesters or 3 quarters) or in less than 900 contact hours by a student enrolled full time.
2. Postsecondary Award, Certificate, or Diploma (at least 1 but less than 2 academic years). An award that requires completion of an organized program of study at the postsecondary level in at least 1 but less than 2 full-time equivalent academic years, or that is designed for completion in at least 30 but less than 60 credit hours, or in at least 900 but less than 1,800 contact hours.
3. Associate's Degree. An award that normally requires at least 2 but less than 4 years of full-time equivalent college work.
4. Postsecondary Award, Certificate, or Diploma (at least 2 but less than 4 academic years). An award that requires completion of an organized program of study at the postsecondary level in at least 2 but less than 4 full-time equivalent academic years, or that is designed for completion in at least 60 but less than 120 credit hours, or in at least 1,800 but less than 3,600 contact hours.
5. Bachelor's Degree. An award that normally requires at least 4 but not more than 5 years of full-time equivalent college-level work. This includes all bachelor's degrees conferred in a 5-year cooperative (work-study plan) program. A cooperative program provides for alternate class attendance and employment in business, industry, or government; thus, it allows students to combine actual work experience with their college studies. Also includes bachelor's degrees in which the normal 4 years of work are completed in 3 years.

6. Postbaccalaureate Certificate. An award that requires completion of an organized program of study requiring 18 credit hours beyond the bachelor's degree; designed for persons who have completed a baccalaureate degree, but who do not meet the requirements of academic degrees carrying the title of master.
7. Master's Degree. An award that requires the successful completion of a program of study of at least the full-time equivalent of 1 but not more than 2 academic years of work beyond the bachelor's degree.
8. Post-Master's Certificate. An award that requires completion of an organized program of study of 24 credit hours beyond the master's degree, but does not meet the requirements of academic degrees at the doctor's level.
9. Doctor's Degree. The highest award that a student can earn for graduate study. The doctor's degree classification includes degrees such as Doctor of Education, Doctor of Juridical Science, Doctor of Public Health, and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in any field such as agronomy, food technology, education, engineering, public administration, ophthalmology, or radiology. For the Doctor of Public Health degree, the prior degree is generally earned in the closely related professional field of medicine or in sanitary engineering.
10. First-Professional Degree. An award that requires completion of a program that meets all of the following criteria: (1) completion of the academic requirements to begin practice in the profession; (2) at least 2 years of college work prior to entering the program; and (3) a total of at least 6 academic years of college work to complete the degree program, including prior required college work plus the length of the professional program itself.

First-professional degrees may be awarded in the following fields:

Chiropractic (D.C. or D.C.M.)
 Dentistry (D.D.S. or D.M.D.)
 Law (LL.B. or J.D.)
 Medicine (M.D.)

Optometry (O.D.)
 Osteopathic Medicine (D.O.)
 Pharmacy (D.Pharm.)
 Podiatry (Pod.D. or D.P.)
 Theology (M.Div., M.H.L., B.D., or Ordination)
 Veterinary Medicine (D.V.M.)

11. First-Professional Certificate (post-degree). An award that requires completion of an organized program of study designed for persons who have completed the first-professional degree. Examples could be refresher courses or additional units of study in a specialty or subspecialty.

Other Institutional Data Not Reported

"Other Institutional Data Not Reported" at the end of an institutional listing identifies the school as a nonrespondent to the 1994-95 Institutional Characteristics Survey, which is the source of all data in the Directory except enrollment.

All nonresponding institutions were contacted, and only schools verified to be in operation were included in the final postsecondary universe and listed in the Directory. As part of nonresponse followup, the school's name, address, and telephone number were verified for accuracy. (An attempt was also made to obtain additional information; see the section on "Survey Methodology.") Information on "Highest Offering" and "Control" for nonrespondents was based on their responses in a previous survey year.

Postsecondary Institution

To be included in the IPEDS universe, an institution must have as its sole purpose, or as one of its primary missions, the provision of postsecondary education. In IPEDS, postsecondary education is defined as "the provision of a formal instructional program whose curriculum is designed primarily for students beyond the compulsory age for high school. This includes programs whose purpose is academic, vocational, and continuing professional education, and excludes avocational and adult basic education programs."

In IPEDS, institutions and their branches are classified into one of three levels based on the highest award offered at the institution:

1. Four-year-and-above institutions. Institutions or branches that award at least a 4-year degree or higher award in one or more programs.
2. Two-but-less-than-4-year institutions. Institutions or branches that confer at least a 2-year formal award (certificate, diploma, or associate's degree), or have a 2-year program creditable toward a baccalaureate degree, but that do not award a baccalaureate degree or higher award.
3. Less-than-2-year institutions. Institutions or branches that only have programs lasting less than 2 years that result in a terminal occupational award or are creditable toward a formal award at the 2-year-or-higher level.

Programs

Each institutional listing includes the general types of programs offered at the school. These include occupational, academic, continuing professional, recreational/avocational, adult basic or remedial instruction, and secondary programs.

Room

The typical room charge to a full-time student for the 1994-95 academic year is provided. The room charge reflects what a student should expect to pay when sharing a room with one other student.

Tuition and Required Fees

Listed as "Tuition" for short, this figure is the typical in-state tuition and required fees a full-time student paid for the full 1994-95 academic year.

Tuition is the amount of money charged to students for instructional services; in-state tuition is the amount charged to students who meet the state's residency requirements. Required fees are charges to students for items not covered by tuition, but required of such a large proportion of all students that the student who does not pay these charges is an exception. (For an explanation of "Full-time Student" and "Academic Year," see the discussion of these terms in this section.)

Tuition and required fees may vary by student level or program at some institutions, so these charges should be used for reference and comparison purposes only, and not as a quote of actual charges at the institution.

At 4-year-and-above institutions, the undergraduate tuition field will be blank for institutions that do not offer undergraduate programs. Similarly, the graduate tuition field will be blank for schools that do not offer graduate programs. If an institution offers first-professional programs, this will be indicated. However, first-professional tuition charges are not provided in this publication. [NOTE: Table 4 in the NCES publication Basic Student Charges at Postsecondary Institutions lists tuition charges for first-professional programs.] At less-than-2-year schools, the tuition charge is for the program with the largest enrollment.

About one-fifth of all public 2-year and less-than-2-year schools, such as community colleges and vocational/technical institutes, charge significantly lower tuition to in-district students (students who are legal residents of the locality where the school is located). The institution should be contacted directly to determine if it offers lower tuition to in-district students, if this is an important consideration to a student in choosing a school.

UNITID

A unique 6-digit unit identification code that does not change over time is assigned to each postsecondary institution in the IPEDS universe. The UNITID makes it possible to link institutional data from multiple IPEDS surveys (Institutional Characteristics, Fall Enrollment, Completions, Finance, Salaries, etc.). This identifier is created and assigned by NCES and is part of each institutional listing.

Survey Methodology

The 1994-95 "Institutional Characteristics" (IC) survey was mailed in July 1994 to the known universe of 10,500 postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the outlying areas, and to 117 administrative units that coordinate or provide data for 2 or more postsecondary institutions. During the processing of the survey, 661 institutions and offices were deleted because they either closed, merged with another institution, or no longer offered postsecondary programs.

Institutions received one of five versions of the IC survey (IC1, IC2, IC3, IC4 or IC-ADD), determined by the school's control and highest level of award and whether or not its students are eligible for federal financial aid. For those institutions whose students are eligible for federal financial aid: IC1 forms were mailed to all 4-year or higher institutions; IC2 forms to all 2-year institutions and all public less-than-two-year institutions; and IC3 forms to all private less-than-2-year institutions. IC4 was sent to institutions not eligible for federal aid. The IC-ADD form was sent to approximately 500 institutions that were considered potential adds to the IPEDS universe. Table A provides a detailed breakout of institutions receiving the survey, along with the final 1994-95 universe count and response rates to the survey for all postsecondary institutions.

To ease respondent burden and achieve a timely return of the survey, the form was preprinted with the previous year's responses before mailout. The respondent was instructed to update any preprinted responses that were incorrect or no longer current, such as tuition and required fees and room and board charges at the institution.

Survey responses were edited for internal and inter-year consistency. For example, if the institution indicated that graduate-level programs were offered, the form was checked to make sure that graduate tuition was also reported. If the room and board charges reported by the institution were out of line with last year's charges, the data were verified. The final survey database consists of reported data only. However, tuition charges provided for a quarter or semester were converted to academic year charges to conform to survey instructions.

The survey due date was September 1, 1994. Nonresponse follow-up was conducted from mid-September 1994 to April 1995, using reminder letters encouraging nonresponding institutions to complete and return their forms, and telephone interviews with institutional representatives. All data, whether from paper forms or the PETS system, went through the same editing process. NCES staff were assisted in data collection and editing by a network of IPEDS State Coordinators.

During the course of survey processing, some institutions were declared out of scope because they had closed their doors; had merged with another institution; no longer offered postsecondary programs; or were determined not to conform to the IPEDS definition of a postsecondary institution or branch (for example, an entity may have been on the file as a branch when it was really an extension center, which is not listed separately in IPEDS.)

Table notes:

1. By definition, 4-year institutions offer a bachelor's degree or postbaccalaureate award of some kind; 2-year institutions offer at least one program of at least 2 years' duration; and less-than-2-year schools offer only programs of less-than-2-years' duration.
2. The column entitled "Sector changes (net)" reflects the net change in the number of institutions moving into and out of a given sector between 1993-94 and 1994-95. The number is based on institutions that were in the universe in both survey years; ie., deletes and adds are excluded. A school's sector may change due to a change in its highest level of offering, or the school may have been improperly classified by sector on the prior year's survey file.
3. The "Adds" column includes only institutions new to the 1994-95 IPEDS universe; ie., not on the 1993-94 IC file. The "Deletes" column shows the number of institutions that were on the 1993-94 file but were eliminated before closeout of the 1994-95 file because they were declared out-of-scope for one reason or another. For example, the school may have closed.
4. Response rates are based on institutions that are on the final 1994-95 file that responded to the survey. For example, the final 1994-95 file has a total of 10,403 institutions. Of these, a total of 9,539 responded to the IC survey. Therefore, the response rate for all institutions combined is 9,539 divided by 10,403, or 91.7 percent. An institution was counted as a respondent if it responded to either: (a) the paper form or (b) the Postsecondary Education Telephone System (PETS), which collected only critical data items during a telephone interview with an institutional representative. PETS was used for nonrespondents to the paper form.

Symbols Used in the Directory

-  An asterisk (*) beside any item in an institutional listing indicates that the institution did not respond to the item.
- (H) Institutions that have an (H) preceding their name are accredited at the college level by an agency or association recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education, and are legally authorized to offer at least a 1-year program of study creditable toward a degree or other formal award. The accrediting bodies are listed in Appendixes D and E.
- (%F) Found in parentheses following the enrollment figure, (%F) indicates the percent of students who are female. This information is not provided if the enrollment figure was derived from the "Institutional Characteristics" survey.
- (R) Institutions that reported their total enrollment on the "Fall Enrollment" survey have an (R) accompanying the data.
- (I) Enrollment was imputed (I) for institutions that did not respond to the "Fall Enrollment" survey, but were part of the survey universe.
- $$ The $$ symbol appears after "Board" for institutions that reported a combined room and board charge. The combined charge is listed under "Room." The number of meals included in the charge is listed in parentheses following the $$ symbol.
- (V) Found in parentheses following the board charge indicates that the number of meals per week varies according to the meal plan chosen.

Table Notes:

2. Average tuitions at less than 2-year private schools are not included because they are collected by program, not by academic year.
3. The number of institutions responding with tuition data are based on the following: The total number of public 4-year institutions is 616, of which 610 responded. Of the 610, 583 offered undergraduate programs and 510 offered graduate programs. There are 1,967 nonprofit 4-year schools, 1,736 responded -- 1,389 have undergraduate programs and 1,114 have graduate programs. Also, there are 182 for-profit 4-year institutions, 152 responded; of these, 112 have undergraduate programs and 77 have graduate programs.
4. For the remaining sectors, undergraduate tuitions represent all responding institutions.

Appendix D

Accrediting Agencies and Associations Recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education

The Secretary of Education is required by statute to publish a list of nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations which the Secretary determines to be reliable authorities as to the quality of training offered by educational institutions and programs. The National Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility assists the Secretary in determining which accrediting bodies should be listed. Accrediting bodies that achieve recognition are reviewed at least every 4 years thereafter.

The commissions of the regional associations and the national institutional and specialized accrediting agencies which are recognized by the Secretary have no legal control over educational institutions or programs. They promulgate standards of quality or criteria of institutional excellence and approve or admit to membership those institutions that meet the standards or criteria.

I. Regional Institutional Accrediting Associations

The regional associations recognized by the Secretary of Education appear in the following listing. Regional accreditation applies to the entire institution and indicates that each of its parts is contributing to the achievement of an institution's objectives, although not necessarily all on the same level of quality.

All regional accreditations listed in the Directory are self-reported by the institution and have not been verified by NCES, so the prospective student should verify accreditations of importance to him or her in the selection of a school by contacting the accrediting agencies. Appendix E provides the addresses and telephone numbers of the accrediting agencies for this purpose.

II. National Institutional and Specialized Accrediting Agencies

The national institutional and specialized accrediting agencies recognized by the Secretary of Education, and their scope of recognition, appear in the following listing. Institutional accreditation normally applies to an entire institution, indicating that each of its parts is contributing to the achievement of an institution's objectives, although not necessarily all on the same level of quality. Some national accrediting agencies perform institutional accreditation.

Specialized accreditation normally applies to evaluation of programs, departments, or schools which usually are parts of a total collegiate or other postsecondary institution. The unit accredited may be as large as a college or school within a university or as small as a curriculum within a discipline. Most of the specialized accrediting agencies review units within a postsecondary institution which is accredited by one of the regional accrediting commissions. However, certain of the specialized accrediting agencies do accredit professional schools and other specialized or vocational or other postsecondary institutions which are free-standing in their operations. Thus, a "specialized" or "programmatic" accrediting agency may also function in the capacity of an "institutional" accrediting agency. In addition, a number of specialized accrediting agencies accredit educational programs within non-educational settings, such as hospitals.

All national institutional and specialized accreditations listed in the Directory are self-reported by the institution and have not been verified by NCES. The prospective student should verify accreditations of importance to him or her in the selection of a school by contacting the accrediting agencies. Appendix E provides the addresses and telephone numbers of the accrediting agencies for this purpose.

Carnegie Foundation Classification Codes

The 1994 classification system created by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching is included in the Directory to help users of this information further delineate institutions by type. This classification, which dates back to 1970, currently includes approximately 3,600 colleges and universities in the United States that are degree-granting and accredited by an agency recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education. The 10 categories that make up the new classification scheme are based largely on academic mission and are not intended to measure quality. Institutions are classified according to their highest level of offering, the number of degrees conferred by discipline, and the amount of federal support for research received by the institution. Some categories also rely on the selectivity of the institution's admissions.

Information provided by the Carnegie Foundation was matched against the IPEDS "Institutional Characteristics" file and the codes are indicated in the institutional listings where matches were certain. It is important for users to note that IPEDS includes separate listings for all branches of an institution, whereas, in some instances, Carnegie lists only one campus (which encompasses the main campus and all branches). Each of the categories, and the coding scheme used in this Directory, are explained below:

RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES I (RES I)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually $40 million or more in federal support.*

RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES II (RES II)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually between $15.5 million and $40 million in federal support.

DOCTORAL UNIVERSITIES I (DOC I)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the doctorate. They award at least 40 doctoral degrees annually in five or more disciplines.

DOCTORAL UNIVERSITIES II (DOC II)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the doctorate. They award annually at least 10 doctoral degrees (in three or more disciplines), or 20 or more doctoral degrees in one or more disciplines.

MASTER'S (COMPREHENSIVE) UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES I (MAST I)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 40 or more master's degrees annually in three or more disciplines.

MASTER'S (COMPREHENSIVE) UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES II (MAST II)

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 20 or more master's degrees annually in one or more disciplines.

BACCALAUREATE (LIBERAL ARTS) COLLEGES I (BACC I)

These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degree programs. They award 40 percent or more of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields and are restrictive in admissions.

BACCALAUREATE COLLEGES II (BACC II)

These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degree programs. They award less than 40 percent of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields or are less restrictive in admissions.

ASSOCIATE OF ARTS COLLEGES (AA)

These institutions offer associate of arts certificate or degree programs and, with few exceptions, offer no baccalaureate degrees.

SPECIALIZED INSTITUTIONS

These institutions offer degrees ranging from the baccalaureate to the doctorate. At least 50 percent of the degrees awarded by these institutions are in a single discipline.

- (THEO) Theological seminaries, Bible colleges and other institutions offering degrees in religion: This category includes institutions at which the primary purpose is to offer religious instruction or train members of the clergy.
- (MED) Medical schools and medical centers: These institutions award most of their professional degrees in medicine. In some instances, their programs include other health professional schools, such as dentistry, pharmacy, or nursing.
- (HEALTH) Other separate health profession schools: Institutions in this category award most of their degrees in such fields as chiropractic, nursing, pharmacy, or podiatry.
- (ENG) Schools of engineering and technology: The institutions in this category award at least a bachelor's degree in programs limited almost exclusively to technical fields of study.
- (BUS) Schools of business and management: The schools in this category award most of their bachelor's or graduate degrees in business or business-related programs.
- (FINE ARTS) Schools of art, music, and design: Institutions in this category award most of their bachelor's or graduate degrees in art, music, design, architecture, or some combination of such fields.
- (LAW) Schools of law: The schools in this category award most of their degrees in law. The list includes only institutions that are separate entities or campuses.
- (TEACH) Teachers colleges: Institutions in this category award most of their bachelor's or graduate degrees in education or education-related fields.
- (OTHER) Other specialized institutions: Institutions in this category include graduate centers, maritime academies, military institutes, and institutions that do not fit any other classification category.
- (TRIBAL) Tribal colleges: These colleges are, with few exceptions, tribally controlled and located on reservations. They are all members of the American Indian Higher Education Consortium.
